

WHOLE NO. 10,804.

NOTICE.

WE BRO TO CALL THE ATTENTION OF THE BUSINESS PUBLIC TO THE FOLLOWING:

On the 24 of March we published an advertisement as follows:

EXTENSIVE OFFERING

AND

GREAT SALE OF

FOREIGN DRESS GOODS,

BY

GEORGE A. WICKS & CO.,

ON A CREDIT OF FOUR MONTHS,

To take place at their own store,

51 and 53 FRANKLIN STREET,

Commencing on

WEDNESDAY, 7TH INST.

OUR ENTIRE IMPORTATION,

OPEN AND ON EXHIBITION,

CONSISTING OF

400 PACKAGES

OF

FRESH GOODS,

All of which we pledge ourselves to sell at the lowest prices

the same goods have sold at auction this season.

34 Dyed Lustrines.

34 Dyed Alpines.

36 Dyed Alpines.

66 Dyed Alpines, in all the newest shades and colors.

Cases Chamois Fabrics.

Cases 24 Dyed Gilt Hops.

Cases Ottoman Poplins.

Cases 34 Figured Corals.

Cases Catalan Stripes.

Cases Black and White Molins.

Cases Black and White Checks.

Cases Silk Striped Lustrines.

Cases Melange Cordes.

Cases Figured Pique Cloths.

Cases 34 Grandines.

Cases 64 Striped Lenos.

5 Cases Black and White Lenos, new and beautiful article.

Cases London Checked Poplins.

Cases 34 Striped Chamois Fabrics, not before offered.

Cases 34 Lustrines.

Cases 40 inch Lustrines.

Cases Poplins.

Cases 34 Silk Warp Chamois Cloths.

Cases 64 Silk Warp Chamois Cloths, striped and checked.

combined strictly to us.

Cases Lustrines.

Cases Gingham, solid checks.

Cases Gingham, fancy spots.

20 Cases Black and White Spot Bathing Bathing.

We earnestly invite the attention of the trade to this offering,

as we modestly believe it to excel any exhibit heretofore made in this class of fabrics, either by auction or private sale.

It will also give those who have not already supplied their wants an opportunity to furnish themselves at the lowest possible prices, and, we earnestly believe, at lower prices than will rule for the balance of the season.

This offering will comprise our entire stock of Foreign Dress Goods, without the reservation of a package.

It is in order to avoid confusion, the price of each case and style will be plainly marked thereon.

GEORGE A. WICKS & CO.,

51 and 53 Franklin Street.

On the 10th of March we published the following:

6000 Pieces

FANCY CASHMERE,

Spring Styles.

In Light and Medium Weights.

Having purchased the entire balance of the stock of three of the most prominent woolen mills in this country, we propose to offer the same to the trade at a reduction of 25% per cent from the actual cost of production, and 40 per cent less than the same goods have sold at this season.

In making this offering at the price which affords a bare commission above the cost to us, we are confident we shall benefit our customers in a greater degree than will be possible in any other article the present season.

GEORGE A. WICKS & CO.,

51 and 53 Franklin Street.

Both of the above advertisements were published in the United States Economist, Evening Post and Evening Express.

On the 24th instant the following article or advertisement appeared in the United States Economist and Dry Goods

Reporter:

GEORGE WASHINGTON TRICK & CO.,

FOLLY STREET,

OPPOSITE THE PUNCH AND JUDY.

Having made contracts with the principal print mills both in this country and Europe for their entire production, we have determined to make a

GRAND OFFERING

to the public, and that our efforts may be generally diffused, we propose selling the same from a simple dress pattern to the entire production of a single mill.

The sale will positively commence immediately after discount on Saturday next, and to continue until the whole are disposed of.

Ladies will be specially attended to by our ladies; but, that everybody may be equally benefited, we respectfully request that the ladies will be present in person, or by proxy, on the morning, in order that the principals may be reassured.

Having received information as to where the foregoing announcement, on the 27th instant, addressed the following note to Wm. H. Lee, of the firm of Lee, Bliss & Co.:

"New York, March 27, 1866.

"Mr. WILLIAM H. LEE—Dear Sir:—We are credibly informed that you are the author of, or caused to be published,

the article headed "George Washington Trick & Co., Folly

Street," &c., which appeared in the Economist on the 24th instant.

"We desire to learn from you whether you or either member of your firm are the author or caused it to be published.

"If we receive no answer from you before the 30th instant we will conclude that our information is correct, and we will act accordingly.

"Yours, &c.,

"GEORGE A. WICKS & CO."

On the 25th instant we received the following in response:

"The Broadway, March 26, 1866.

"Messrs. Geo. A. Wicks & Co.—Dear Sirs:—I have your note of yesterday.

"We are not aware that you have any interest in the matter to which your note relates, authorizing you to ask such a question, and therefore decline any further answer.

"Yours, respectfully,

"WILLIAM H. LEE."

Not considering the reply of Mr. Lee in any sense a denial of the fact, we have only to submit the foregoing to the speculation and judgment of the community.

GEORGE A. WICKS & CO.,

51 and 53 FRANKLIN STREET.

CONNECTICUT POLITICS.

Democratic Mass Meetings in New Haven and Birmingham.

Great Enthusiasm for President Johnson and Mr. English.

S. S. Cox, Postmaster Cleveland and W. D. Bishop on the Oris.

The President's Veto Messages Endorsed.

THE DEMOCRACY EXULTANT.

Strong Indications of English's Triumph.

THE NEW HAVEN MEETING.

There was an immense rally of the democracy here

the evening, filling to its utmost capacity the spacious

Music Hall, where a meeting was called of the supporters of President Johnson, Mr. English and the Union. Long before the doors were opened the street in front of the Hall was filled with an anxious crowd, who at the first surge inward almost filled the hall. Numbers, however, continued to arrive, and in a very short space of time there was not even standing room in the hall and galleries, presenting a perfect jam of the hard-fisted democracy of the City of Elms. In short, the gathering last night may truly be said to be the largest that has ever been brought together in any political contest that has ever been waged in this State. Boys with photographs of the democratic candidate went around the assembly doing a brisk business in disposing of faithful presentments of the standard-bearer of the democracy of Connecticut. On the platform was a strong array of the wealth and intelligence of New Haven, who in response to the immense assembly in front of them, in all the manifestations of enthusiasm that on such occasions mark the feelings of a powerful party, cried by thrilling acclamations on the national and local policies of the day.

The procession was elaborately draped with the Stars and Stripes. An excellent band was also in attendance, which, previous to the arrival of the speakers and in the intervals of the addresses, played numerous national and popular airs.

The meeting was called to order by the chairman, Mr.

Wm. S. CHAMBERLAIN, who in a very few remarks introduced to the assembly Mr. S. S. Cox, who was received with cheering applause.

MR. S. S. COX.

Mr. Cox, after the applause which greeted him, proceeded to address the assembly. He said:—Follow citizens—Every citizen of a Connecticut clock ought to beat and keep time to the music of the Union. (Cheers and laughter.) And I think the pulsation of every heart to this, the land of the brave and the home of the free, regularly. (Continued cheering.) I always in the national legislation on every occasion with A. R. English to stand in the company. (Cheers.) The President, Andrew

Johnson—(great cheering)—has made an issue with Congress upon that subject, and to-day the question is not to much to be decided as to whether the Union shall stand by the constitution, or whether it shall be broken down. The question is whether the Union shall stand by the constitution, or whether it shall be broken down.

The question is whether the Union shall stand by the constitution, or whether it shall be broken down. The question is whether the Union shall stand by the constitution, or whether it shall be broken down. The question is whether the Union shall stand by the constitution, or whether it shall be broken down. The question is whether the Union shall stand by the constitu-

tion, or whether it shall be broken down. The question is whether the Union shall stand by the constitu-

tion, or whether it shall be broken down. The question is whether the Union shall stand by the constitu-

tion, or whether it shall be broken down. The question is whether the Union shall stand by the constitu-

tion, or whether it shall be broken down. The question is whether the Union shall stand by the constitu-

tion, or whether it shall be broken down. The question is whether the Union shall stand by the constitu-

tion, or whether it shall be broken down. The question is whether the Union shall stand by the constitu-

tion, or whether it shall be broken down. The question is whether the Union shall stand by the constitu-

tion, or whether it shall be broken down. The question is whether the Union shall stand by the constitu-

tion, or whether it shall be broken down. The question is whether the Union shall stand by the constitu-

tion, or whether it shall be broken down. The question is whether the Union shall stand by the constitu-

tion, or whether it shall be broken down. The question is whether the Union shall stand by the constitu-

tion, or whether it shall be broken down. The question is whether the Union shall stand by the constitu-

tion, or whether it shall be broken down. The question is whether the Union shall stand by the constitu-

tion, or whether it shall be broken down. The question is whether the Union shall stand by the constitution, or whether it shall be broken down. The ques-

THE FEELING IN WASHINGTON REGARDING THE ELECTION.

Next to the veto the Connecticut election is the great topic. Additional proof has been received to-day showing the probability of the election of English.

General Hawley is known to be in favor of universal negro suffrage, which does not go down very well in that State. He endeavored to force the Union paper at Wilmington, North Carolina, into the advocacy of universal negro suffrage when he was in command there.

This fact is said to be seriously weakening him in the canvass.

THE VIEWS OF THE PRESIDENT.

(From the Hartford Courant, March 29.)

We are permitted to give this morning a letter from President Johnson, dated at the White House, March 29.

Kara Hall, of this city, who sets forth the views of President Johnson, the lie of the copperhead voters to the White House, that Mr. Johnson "when he says that the negro is a creature of the devil, is a creature of the devil." (In speaking of the Union party.) "The general, the uniformly refers to the party which sustained the government during the rebellion. The letter is full of quotations from the President's speeches, and is a valuable contribution to the study of the President's views on the rebellion.

It is a valuable contribution to the study of the President's views on the rebellion. It is a valuable contribution to the study of the President's views

on the rebellion. It is a valuable contribution to the study of the President's views on the rebellion.

It is a valuable contribution to the study of the

President's views on the rebellion. It is a valuable

contribution to the study of the President's views

on the rebellion. It is a valuable contribution to the study of the President's views on the rebellion.

It is a valuable contribution to the study of the

President's views on the rebellion. It is a valuable

contribution to the study of the President's views

on the rebellion. It is a valuable contribution to the study of the President's views on the rebellion.

It is a valuable contribution to the study of the

President's views on the rebellion. It is a valuable

contribution to the study of the President's views

on the rebellion. It is a valuable contribution to the study of the President's views on the rebellion.

It is a valuable contribution to the study of the

President's views on the rebellion. It is a valuable

contribution to the study of the President's views

on the rebellion. It is a valuable contribution to the study of the President's views on the rebellion.

It is a valuable contribution to the study of the

President's views on the rebellion. It is a valuable

contribution to the study of the President's views

on the rebellion. It is a valuable contribution to the study of the President's views on the rebellion.

It is a valuable contribution to the study of the

President's views on the rebellion. It is a valuable

contribution to the study of the President's views

on the rebellion. It is a valuable contribution to